DISEASED PINES FELLED — Less than a dozen beetle-infested pine trees in from a grove lining Canyon Road just east of the Valle Vista Staging area have been felled by wood cutters who were issued permits for the job by East Bay Municipal Utilities District. According to Bob Nuzum, superintendent land management and recreation for EBMUD, the diseased trees were jobbed to the woodcutter who brought in a crew to cut them down for firewood. The felled trees were brought to the attention of the Sun by commuters and hikers and equestrians who were alarmed at the activity.
